

Circuit Grading

Our bouldering grades are inspired by the old French custom of defining circuits or routines of up to several dozen boulder problems that can be completed over the course of a single session. Climbing by circuit forces the climber to practice on a variety of angles and styles of movement, while downplaying the importance of sheer numerical achievement.

